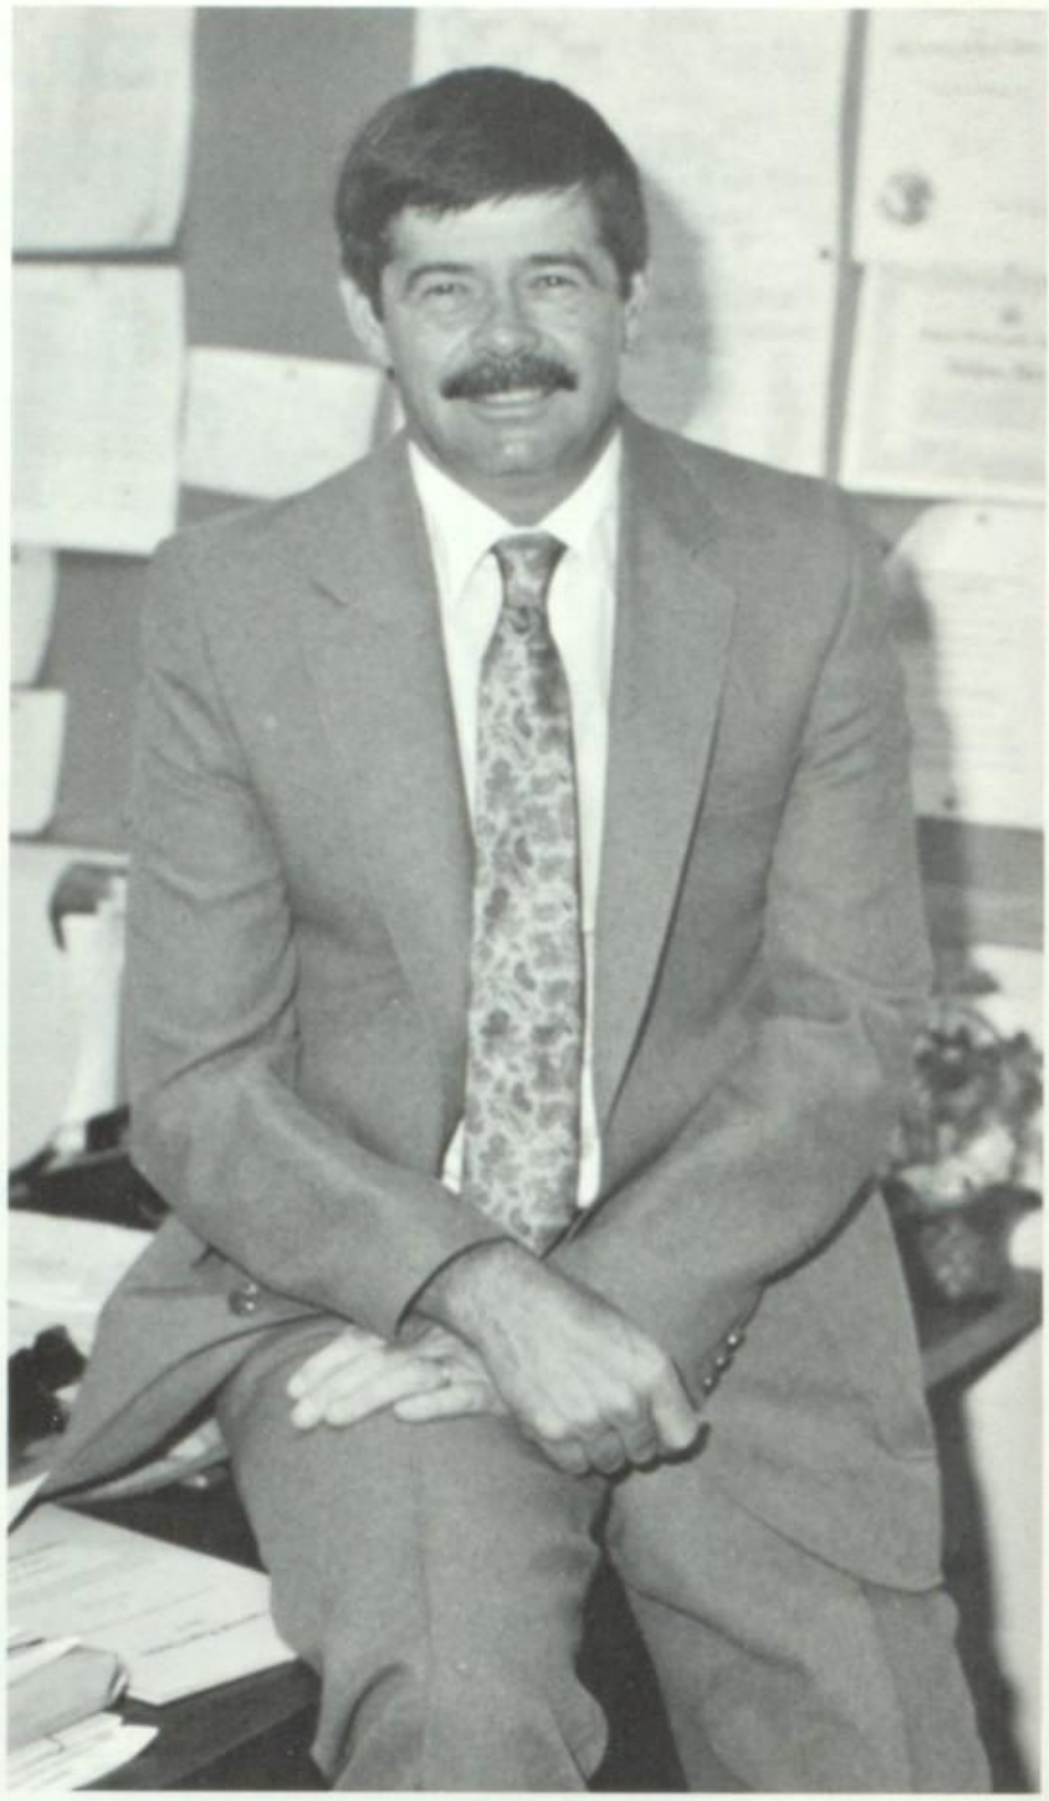
"As time marches on
The present fades away
We who are so close
Will cherish memories of today."
— The Senior Class

Principal's Message



To the Class of 1988:

As you look through the pages of your yearbook, I am sure many fond memories will be recalled. There will bring to mind the many classes and activities that made your high school years special. Looking through yearbooks of the past four years you will see the many changes that you have all undergone. It will seem almost inconceivable that you could have looked like "that" as freshmen. It is clear that we all change with the time whether we want to or not. What is important is not only how we deal with changes in our lives but with the circumstances that surround them.

It will be essential for all of you to be flexible enough to deal with an ever-changing world. The background you have received at Jay High School will help you as you move on to work or college. Do not sell yourselves short for you are capable and qualified to compete with graduates from around the state and the country. It is certainly a big world out there full of opportunities and possibilities. You will be limited only by your own energies and aspirations. I believe as the following quote states:

"To my mind, the possible and the future are one. I believe that all that is possible is striving to come into being; and all that can will be, if man helps."

Andre Gide

My very best to all of you.
Bill Riley, Principal

Thank You To Our Class Advisors

Mr. Henry

Mrs. Nickless

'We, the class of 1988, wish to express our gratitude to our class advisors. Throughout the last four years they have shown interest, dedication and support in our school related activities.

We have spent much time with them planning our future and would like to acknowledge their participation in the develoment of the foundation for our future. The class of 1988 believes that we have developed and matured since 1984, our Freshman year. Our class advisors are partially resposible for the accomplishment.

With much appreciation to . . .

In Our Minds and Memory Forever

During the past year, we at Jay High School have suffered a great loss. On August 25, 1987, our English teacher, Mr. Roger L. Furlong passed away due to a fatal heart attack. He died at the age of forty-seven.

Mr. Furlong was born on July 15, 1940, at Eagle Lake, the son of William and Viola Furlong. There, he spent his childhood with his three brothers and six sisters.

He graduated from Fort Kent High School. Afterwards, he attended the University of Maine at Orono and earned his degree as an English teacher.

He began his teaching career here at Jay High in 1971. His goal at JHS was to give his knowledge of English in a way that students could understand.

Not only was Mr. Furlong an English teacher, he was also involved in other school areas. For many years, he taught drivers education during his summer vacation, giving up his free time to make the dream of a drivers license a reality. He also was the coordinator for the Junior Prom and gave his advice on how to make it the best it could be. He also served as class advisor for our class during our years here.

Mr. Furlong enjoyed fishing as recreation at Eagle Lake whenever possible. He also read many books in his free time and put his literary skill to use in published articles. Another important part of Mr. Furlong's life was spending time with family members at Eagle Lake.

One thing is for certain, and that is that we all will miss Mr. Furlong greatly. The loss was sudden, and it was surely a tragedy. But we all will have memories of Mr. Furlong to last a very long time.

Dear JHS Faculty :

'We attribute the success of our ten-year reunion to you. It was a beautiful day when our class came together after 10 years. Thanks to your hard work (and ours) during our four years at Jay, we have many successful people in our class. Most of the people who were not at the reunion wrote to the class President and updated him on their careers so we could inform you of our success.

Kim Birmingham is constantly meeting new people at the chain of health spas she owns. Tony Bonito runs Oxford Plains Speedway. Ray Brennick is a teacher's assistant to Mrs. Andrews-Newhouse. Nicole Brundage is now a model for Aqua-Net. Maureen Bryant is the new hostess on "20-Minute Workout". Tara Bryant is doing her stuff as a Solid Gold Dancer. Curt Buote has become a cheerleader for the Dallas Cowboys.

Christal Horne is a hair designer at Sassoon Ltd. Craig Jewett spends his time as a lifeguard on Malibu beach. Becky Latham is a window washer in Chicago, while Sherry Leach sells cucumbers in season. Lora Leavitt has become a backup singer for Barry Manilow. Tony Leclair is a roadie for Conway Twitty. Catherine Mardosa makes a living as a waitress in Tibet, and Diane Marquis designs clocks.

Jeff Rackliff works with alligators in the San Diego Zoo; Kellee Richmond is a meter maid in Los Angeles. Toni Roy spends her time as a clerk in a hip new fashion boutique. Robert Samson repairs and sells combat boots. Sean Searles washes dishes at the Farmington Diner. Craig Small has become the official spokesman for "Tide" laundry detergent, while Rosalie Smith is a traveling gardener. Missy St. Pierre won a gold medal in synchronized swimming opposite Michelle Wacome in the 1992 Olympic Games.

J.R. Emery plays piccolo on the New Lawrence Welk Show. Lyn Farrington is a dental hygenist; Roger Ferland , a concert pianist. Lori Filteau designs wigs for Zsa Zsa Gabor. Mary Fortier is a tour guide in the Smithsonian Institute. Shawn Foss, Darren Fournier, Yates Kennedy and Sean Cornelio have been the Men's Professional Bowling champs for 4 years in a row. Rhonda Fournier is happy as Merv Griffin's wife, while Ida Furst owns a sushi bar. David Gilbert sells used cars, and Vern Hall is the owner of the McDonald's chains. Mary Beth Hebert becomes famous by writing a series of best selling romance novels. Kevin Henry sold his bottle cap collection and made a cool million at the age of 20. Scott Henry is a probation officer and Dale Holman joined a monastery.

Tara Adams became a spokesperson for NOW. Mike Allen is a child psychologist, currently employed at AMHI.

Brita Antonsen moved back to Norway, but owns a pro-football team here in the U.S. Robert Balsamo earned his fortune by being a Wall Street wizard. Regina Barnaby enjoys her job as Oral Roberts' business manager. Chris Bessey is playing point guard for the Bulls. Robert Bilodeau is playing the tunes as a VJ on MTV.

Robert Dawes has become a famous soap opera star. Matthew DeMillo is a benchwarmer for the New England Patriots. Deana DiPompo is the new President of the Madonna Fan Club. Angela Ditata is singing her heart out as Annie on Broadway. Dana Donnell became an ambulance driver driver in New York City. Dennis Douglass works as an accountant for a wealthy law firm. Danielle Dubord is teaching penguins how to water ski, while Sheri Durrell started a settlement in Antarctica and was never heard from again.

Scott Stanley delivers singing telegrams, and Wendy Stearns opens for the Johnny Carson show. Duane Tardiff runs a resort in Idaho. Donna Turner is a nuclear physicist in Japan. Lisa Walsh runs a laundromat in Paris, and Susan Walsh became a photojournalist for Rolling Stone Magazine. David Whitney designs new colors for contact lenses, while Michael Williams drives race cars.

Kurt Mastine delivers Domino's pizza, while Terry Medcoff is a school crossing guard. Shelley Miller is heading the movement to bring back Shawn Cassidy. Darren Moody became a lobster fisherman. Michael Morgan designs snow sculptures, and Jim Morrell is kept busy as a customer service clerk at Bloomingdales. Sarah Newcomb is a manager at Shop N' Save, while Shawn Newcomb edits the yellow pages.

Kelly Campbell is the new chairperson of the U.N. Scott Castonguay is a pitcher for the Red Sox. Tim Coffman won the megabucks and has become a millionaire, while Lori Cronkhite owns a Dunkin' Donuts franchise. Peter Crowley is now a professional wrestler, and Stacie Dauzuk is a potato farmer in Aroostook County. Tammy Davis is making her living as a celebrity manicurist.

We hope the classes that follow will be as successful as we have been.

Sincerely,

Kelly and Sue

FRIEND FROM AFAR

When I first came to Jay, I had no idea what it would be like to be an exchange student.

I woke up the first morning — or should I say afternoon since it was almost two o'clock — with the feeling that I was going home in a couple of weeks. Well, I soon found out this was for real. I was here to stay — at least for a year. And this year will indeed be very valuable for me, something I'll remember for the rest of my life.

In the beginning I was kind of "lost", and I was searching for similarities between Jay and Drammen, my hometown in Norway, just to find that almost everything was different. The American people and their way of living differs very much from what I was used to and it didn't take me long before I realized that didn't work. (I could probably write a book on that subject, so I'll leave it with this for now.) Thus, I learned that the thing to do, was to take every situation as it came and try to make the best of it, even though it was hard sometimes.

Part of my experience with American culture has included the need to reject the way that I've been brought up, and suddenly needing to accept the total opposite. I knew that I had to wind up saying "Yeah, sure" and go along with it, because I knew that it was supposed to be different.

Friends. I don't know what I'd do without them. I consider myself lucky the way I was welcomed by everybody, especially at school. I'm fortunate to have friends of all age groups, but the kids in (at) school are (probably) the ones I'll remember the most when I, fifteen years from now, look up in the yearbook and think back on things we did. I'm really grateful for what they did for me, letting me become their friend, taking me here and there, introducing me to others etc.

The school faculty has been very nice too, helping me and supporting me(together with everyone else) so I could have a great year. I really appreciated it!

I guess this year in Jay has been more than what I expected, but I know that without the help from my friends I'd never be able to manage; all alone in another country, miles from home. I owe you all a great deal, and I'll treasure this year for as long as I live. Thanks alot!

A special thands to the senior Class of 1988, you're all great!

Love always,
Brita

Since September the yearbook staff has met every Wednesday and the staff should be congratulated for their dedication. We have tried to instill our creative juices onto each page to make this a great book. We have worked, fought and struggled for this yearbook, then to celebrate our progress, we had a pizza party. We tried some new things this year: we cut down faculty, sports and activity pages and increased candids because to be a part of Jay High School excelling in activites is not a prerequisite.

Fortunately, our staff worked well together and much was accomplished throughout the past months. For all of our dilligent efforts, it was well worth the long hours of work to gain the satisfaction of the finished product; our 1988 edition of Breezes. We are proud of our accomplishment and hope that you wil enjoy reminiscing with us our past years events and memorable moments.
